

A device and a method for connecting objects

A device and a method for connecting at least one first and one second object is provided, wherein a vacuum chamber is arranged around the objects to be connected the size of 5 which vacuum chamber is determined by the dimensions of the objects so that the vacuum chamber may be rapidly evacuated. For connection, the objects are pressed together by the atmospheric pressure. Additionally, the objects may be pressed together in a controlled manner for connection.